II. PROCESS USED TO DEVELOP THE PLAN

A. Who led the planning effort?

The Circuit 5 Local Planning Team was appointed by Circuit 5 Administrator, William D’Aiuto, in December, 2007 based on the suggestions and recommendations from the lead agency, Kids Central, Inc., membership from the previous prevention planning effort, and the desire to have broad based community input into the development of the local plan. The Team was updated in August 2009 to reflect changes in providers and interested parties. New to the process this year was the involvement of individual county stakeholder groups (for example, Children’s Alliances or Shared Services Networks) as we believed that it was important to engage these on-going established entities in this five year planning and implementation process. Each entity was invited to nominate a representative to the Team, and the planning process and its implementation was and will be discussed regularly at these stakeholder meetings.

Initially, thirty-five people were invited to participate in the planning process, representing the Department of Children and Families (DCF), Kids Central Inc., case management organizations, the Judiciary, foster and adoptive parents, independent living youth, Guardian Ad Litem, Citrus County Sheriff’s Department and Child Protection Investigators, children’s alliances, case management and adoption agencies, early childhood services, Department of Juvenile Justice, Child Welfare Legal Services (CWLS) Department of Corrections, Agency for Person’s with Disabilities, Agency for Workforce Innovation, and child advocacy centers. For a complete list of participants please refer to Section C. The Planning Team was facilitated by Philip Scarpelli, DCF and Ann Doyle, Devereux Kids. Mr. Scarpelli was selected because of his role within the Department and knowledge of community based care. Ms. Doyle was selected because of her expertise and experience with development and implementation of previous local plans in Florida and because Devereux Kids’ role in the implementation of the current prevention plan under contract with Kids Central, Inc.

The local alliances/networks have representatives from health providers, juvenile justice, mental health, substance abuse, municipalities and counties, law enforcement, domestic violence, community action programs, and housing experts and advocates. Additionally, community stakeholders will continue to be involved and provide direction in project implementation as the Circuit continues to engage local neighborhoods/communities in implementing prevention strategies.

B. Description of the circuit and counties within the circuit

Circuit 5 encompasses the counties of Citrus, Hernando, Lake, Marion and Sumter in west Central Florida. The entire circuit has a population of 1,024,697 people. Our total population of children is 193,622. Two of the counties (Lake and Sumter) were listed among the top 100 fastest growing counties in the United State, April 2000 – July 2007, with Sumter ranked the second fastest county among counties with housing units above 5,000 (HUD, Population Division, US Census). The population figures reflect a 3 percent (or 31,928) increase in population from the 2005 population data used in the 2009-2010 Plan. Our child population has also increased from 168,412 in July 2004 to the current population or a 15 percent increase.

The Circuit covers 4,140 square miles. Sumter County has the smallest population and is most rural, with 74,721 people in 2008, and Marion County is the most populated county, with 329,628 people in 2008. All five counties have a median income that is less than the state average of $47,804 (2008) and the circuit's population is older than the state with 26.16 percent of the population in Circuit 5 is over 65 versus 17.40 percent of Florida's population being over 65 years old. The population of children less than five years of age is 53,717, which is 5.34 percent of total population compared to 6.20 percent for children statewide.

With the rapid growth in population, especially in Lake and Marion counties, the circuit and its communities are seeing the consequences of that growth and subsequent impact on the availability of affordable housing, rise in unemployment, and increase in crime and violence, especially gang violence. All of these issues are also negatively impacted by current economic trends. In fact, Hernando County, another fast growing county, had an economy and job market that was based on the housing boom. As the housing market declined, it faces numerous challenges with unemployment, foreclosures and the subsequent rise in multiple stressors to families.

Circuit 5 has been impacted severely by the current recession as indicated with the current unemployment for the counties ranked among the highest in Florida, which, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, in May 2010 was 2 percent higher than the national rate of 9.9 percent. The Agency for Workforce Innovation in a press release released on May 21, 2010 stated that Hernando County with a rate of 14.3 percent was second highest in Florida. Marion County was sixth highest with 13.9 percent. Citrus County has an unemployment rate of 12.9 percent and Lake County has a rate of 11.9 percent. Only Sumter County, with a rate of 9.4percent is below Florida and national rates.

The poverty rate for children living in the circuit is 22.64percent, which is higher than state rate of 18.4percent. Data indicate that each of the counties has increased in this rate when compared with the 2005 data used for the 2009 Plan update. Citrus County's rate went from 18.9percent to 24.9percent, Hernando's from 17.5percent to 18.4percent, Lake's from 15.1percent to 17percent, Marion's from 19.5percent to 27.3percent and Sumter County's fell from 21.1percent to 25.6percent. However, in four of the counties (excludes Lake County) the percent of children living in poverty exceeds the statewide average of 18.4 percent (US Census, Small Area Income and Poverty Information, 2008).

The Department of Children and Families provides Child Protection Investigation in four of the five counties, with the Citrus County Sheriff's Department assuming the investigative function as of July 2007. In FY 2008-09 there were 12,642 alleged child abuse victims within the circuit.

The Department contracts with Kids Central, Inc. as the community based care lead agency providing prevention, foster care and adoption services for the circuit. The current Kids Central leadership assumed responsibility in May 2005 and since that time has developed a comprehensive and effective system of care that emphasizes prevention, on going support for relative care givers, quality improvement for case management services, best practices for independent living with its Road to Independence Program, and family engagement at all points within the system of care. Kids Central, Inc. contracts for case management services with two organizations, Children's Home Society and The Centers, and Youth and Families Alternatives, Inc. recently assumed responsibility for adoption promotion and support services for adoptive families, along with Kids Central, Inc. Prevention contracts include community education, diversion, prevention information and referral, and neighborhood engagement; in home parenting; crisis response teams; support for children's alliances; mini-grants for community prevention projects; visitation centers; and child advocacy centers. (Please see Catalog of Services in Attachment 2 and further explanation of services in the three primary sections of the plan). Kids Central was one of the first community based care lead agencies in Florida to receive accreditation from the Council on Accreditation, a designation that demonstrates its leadership and commitment to best practices.

The working relationship between the Department and Kids Central is strong and together they have provided leadership on several initiatives to improve outcomes for children and families. In March of 2006 they initiated a child welfare redesign project that began in Hernando County and was implemented throughout the circuit over the next six months. The process allowed DCF staff, Kids Central staff, case management organizations, CWLS, Guardian Ad Litem and other contracted providers to critically examine referral and service delivery processes and develop mutually beneficial processes. This process was recently recognized with a Prudential-Davis Productivity Award.

The Department of Children and Families and Kids Central were selected by the American Humane Association and Casey Family Programs and just completed an 18 month national collaboration to improve safety and risk assessment processes. A team from DCF, Kids Central, Devereux Kids and Camelot recently participated in the PREVENT Institute at the University of North Carolina- Chapel Hill to enhance the evaluation of the West Ocala Neighborhood Project, a strategy developed for the 2009- 2010 Prevention Plan and to be continued over the course of this plan.

Similarly, the communities in Circuit 5 have many collaborative and cooperative relationships that address issues impacting children and families. Each of the counties has strong children's alliances or similar collaborative groups, drug prevention coalitions, homeless coalitions, and Family Law Advisory Groups. A circuit-wide Dependency Court Improvement Project group meets bi-monthly. These types of relationships and working groups will assist the circuit in collaboratively working on action steps outlined in this plan. The Department of Children and Families and Kids Central staffs, as well as the staffs of many other organizations serving child and families, are consistent participants in all of these cooperative efforts.

C. Brief narrative description of the membership of the planning team(s)

The roster of individuals and agencies that have a role in this plan is outlined in Attachment 1. It contains people that were involved in the development of the current plan and additional membership that reflect changes within the counties. Attachment 1 also contains copies of sign-in sheets and a list of representatives that were part of planning discussions at local Children's Alliances (three counties) and Shared Services Networks (two counties). Section A, above, provides a summary of the type of representation that had a role in the process and that will continue to have a role in the plan implementation.

D. Overview of the meetings held

In May 2009, the Department of Children and Families developed an Executive Steering Committee for the development of the 2010-2015 plan. This committee made up of the Chief of Quality Improvement for Kids Central, Inc., Healthy Families provider, Coordinator of the Lake County Shared Services Network, an adoptive parent and the two co-conveners of the planning process, who represent the Department and a prevention provider. This Committee attended the Prevention Summit in Orlando Florida.

In August 2009, prior to the Dependency Summit, this group again met to discuss and design the planning process. The membership also attended the Planning meeting prior to the Summit and met with the larger Planning Team to discuss the requirements of the plan and possible goals going forward. It was at this time that the decision was made that the local Children's Alliances and Shared Services Networks should have a significant role in the planning process and plan implementation. It was also decided that the goals of the plan would be focused on continuing the work that had begun in the 2009-2010 plan.

The conveners of the Circuit 5 planning process participated in each of the monthly conference calls to fully understand the requirements of the plan. In early October, the conveners developed a local survey tool to determine the breadth and depth of services within each of the planning areas. This tool was based on plan requirements but the response was minimal even though each of the Alliances and Shared Services Networks and multiple stakeholders were asked to respond. The responses allowed the Team to have a general understanding of gaps in services, but again the decision was made to build upon successful efforts that were in place because of the actions outlined in the current plan and the efforts of the lead agency and DCF to sponsor and promote prevention services.

When the myflorida survey was made available, the conveners requested that Circuit 5 be included. This survey produced more responses, so the two surveys were used to identify the continuum of services and provide information for the catalog of services found in Attachment 2.

Another challenge to this planning process was that during this time Kids Central had let a Request for Proposal (RFP) for adoption promotion and support services for adoptive parents. This resulted in a change of leadership and providers of these services. Youth and Family Alternatives (YFA) assumed the contract in December of 2009. It is a new provider of services in this circuit and understandably the first few months of operation were devoted to the smooth transition of services. Thus, those sections of the draft plan are limited at this time, but will be expanded/clarified as plan implementation moves forward and as YFA completes its transition.

In January and early February, the conveners and representatives of the Executive Steering Committee participated in discussions with the local Children's Alliances (Marion, Sumter and Hernando) and Shared Services Networks (Citrus and Lake) to provide an overview of the planning process, the focus on protective factors and the tentative goals of the plan, building upon the actions steps in current plan. Each entity was supportive of the plan and the Team and Executive Committee are committed to engaging these entities in implementation.

Finally, the Executive Steering Committee met on January 21, 2010 to review proposed goals and action steps and the larger planning team was invited to a meeting on February 10, 2010 to finalize the goals, objectives and action steps. The final plan was developed based on local changes and in response to the review of the draft plan.

E. Overview of the plan development process

As previously mentioned, the plan development process was based on the Executive Steering Committee's, lead agency's and DCF's belief that the strategies put into place within the current plan are achieving the intended results and should be continued and expanded upon throughout 2010-2015. The current goals of the prevention plan are based on research and local analysis of the needs and resources. We believe the plan addresses the continuum of services required of the plan and address the socio-ecological model. We also believe it is prudent to continue to build upon the good projects and efforts the Circuit has put into place.

The same is true of our efforts to expand adoption promotion and support of adoptive parents over the last year. Kids Central is continuing to build upon the Family Finding effort outlined in our current plan. A different type of recruitment, the Family Finding program was initiated by Kids Central in early 2008. The Family Finding program is a model used to find life long connections and supports for children who are in the foster care system. The process is a interactive between case manager, parent and child, but also involves an internet search process in which case managers attempt to find 40 family members for each child and involve them in the decision making process related to permanency. Currently the process is focused on children who have been in the system for a long time and lost connections to their families. We believe that as more families are engaged, the children for which it is harder to find adoptive homes will have increased options and if not adopted by family members, they will know they have relatives to call upon for support in the future. Kids Central, the case management organizations and Devereux Kids Facilitators work with families identified through Family Finding process to develop a support plan for family members willing to provide a permanent home for children as well as those that choose to provide life long connections for foster children who have aged out of the system. Kids Central received a Federal Family Connections pilot project grant to expand the Family Finding program in Circuit 5. (<http://www.senecacenter.org/familyfinding>)

Additionally, Kids Central is now using the Adoption Chronicles™ approach to promote adoption with a child specific approach. The Adoption Chronicles™ combine professional production, interview skills and web-based technology to partner with Kids Central and YFA to showcase children awaiting adoption in an unbiased and positive way. Prospective foster or adoptive parents also gain the opportunity to present themselves multi-dimensionally, bettering their chance for a successful match.

Children gain self-esteem and confidence through the interview experience which gives them a voice, allowing them to show their personalities and share their likes and dislikes.

Agencies are provided with an innovative tool that supports their ultimate mission: To find a permanent, safe, and loving home for all children under their care. Understanding the financial constraints of lead adoption agencies, The Adoption Chronicles™ program is designed to be efficient and cost-effective, while delivering a quality result for each individual child.

(<http://adoptionchronicles.com/about>)

These two innovative approaches will be used for adoption promotion and support, along with the expansion of the neighborhood focused prevention strategies, Healthy Families, public awareness and enhanced support services are the foundations of the Circuit 5 Child Abuse Prevention and Permanency Plan for 2010-2015.

PART 2 – PLAN FOR THE PREVENTION OF ABUSE, ABANDONMENT, AND NEGLECT OF CHILDREN

I. STATUS OF CHILD MALTREATMENT

Status of child maltreatment (including the documentation of the magnitude of the problems of child abuse, including sexual abuse, physical abuse, and emotional abuse, as well as child abuse, abandonment, and neglect in the geographical area) §39.001(8)(b)6.a

A. Indicators of child population and child maltreatment and risks in our circuit

The counties in Circuit 5 continue to be challenged by the factors that contribute to maltreatment of children. As demonstrated in Part 1, the circuit's median household income is less than the state average and the child poverty rate for all counties is equal to or greater than the statewide average of 18.4 percent, indicating poverty as an issue for our families. In addition to the poverty rates, in the current plan, we indicated that the circuit ranks number 17th out of 21 circuits in the substance abuse treatment rate per 1000 adults, with the only county exceeding the statewide rate of 7.0 being Sumter, which has an 8.4 rate. Regarding the domestic violence offense rate per 1000 adults, the circuit ranked ninth out of the 21 circuits. All of our counties, with the exception of Sumter County, had rates higher than the state average and our circuit average is slightly higher than the statewide average of 8.0.

The circuit's population of children in July 2004 was 168,412 and is currently 193,662 of a 15 percent increase (Department of Children and Families). In State fiscal year 2007/08 the child population was 192,236 so the trend is still increasing. This is another indicator of the growth of our communities and growing number of families. The total population of children is potentially impacted by primary prevention services.

Data from the Department of Children and Families indicate that between 2007/08 and 2008/09 Circuit 5 had a decrease in the rate per 1,000 of child victims in four of the five counties. Sumter County is the only county that showed an increase in the rate. The following Tables outline the changes in rates and the trends in alleged victims and substantiated victims. For the purpose of this plan, the rates are important as the decrease in rates is an established goal for each circuit. Additionally, we believe the difference between the number of alleged victims and those substantiated with some indication or verified maltreatment is important, as these children will be the focus of secondary prevention efforts.

Data supplied for the development of the 2005-2010 prevention plan indicated that three of our counties, Lake, Marion and Sumter, were “most at risk” for child maltreatment using 2001/02 data. Data provided for this planning process (2007/08 and 2008/09) indicated that Hernando County had the highest rate (35.91) and Citrus’ rate was fourth in the state at 24.58. Similar data for 2008/09 indicated that Hernando continues to have the highest rates of maltreatment per 1000 children. In this year, Citrus, Lake and Marion improved their rates in comparison with other counties, with ranks of 20th, 39th, and 29th respectively. Sumter County’s rate went from 44th in 2007/08 to 26th in 2008/09. These data show a great deal of fluctuate from year to year, yet all indicate that our counties have rates higher than statewide rates.

Other data elements contribute to the Team’s understanding of the status of maltreatment in circuit 5. They can be found in data tables outlined below.

Overrepresentation of Black children among child victims continues to be an issue within Circuit 5. The data indicate that all of the counties have had a higher percent of Black children that were determined to have some indication of abuse than the total percent of the Black population in those counties. Lake and Marion counties have the largest discrepancies with 21 percent child victims who are Black versus 11.6 percent of total population who is Black in Lake County. Marion County is 21 percent versus 11.9 percent. The circuit believes the neighborhood strategies that strengthen communities and families, especially the four that target neighborhoods with large percentages of Black and other minority populations in Lake and Marion counties will address this concern.

Diagram 13 provides a summary of the most often used service referrals. Kids Central does contract with five agencies to provide diversion or secondary prevention services, providing an array of services that address the needs of families with low, medium and high risk of abuse prior to a referral to case management services or removal of the child. These include: Family Team conferencing to connect families to natural supports, in-home services by Family Team Coaching and the University of Florida Nurturing Program and Crisis Response Team for the more high risk cases.

Since the Circuit 5 Planning Team is recommending that we continue to invest in the prevention strategies we have put into place for the 200-2101 plan, it is important to provide some background on the development of those strategies and the needs they address.

Neighborhood Strategies Background:

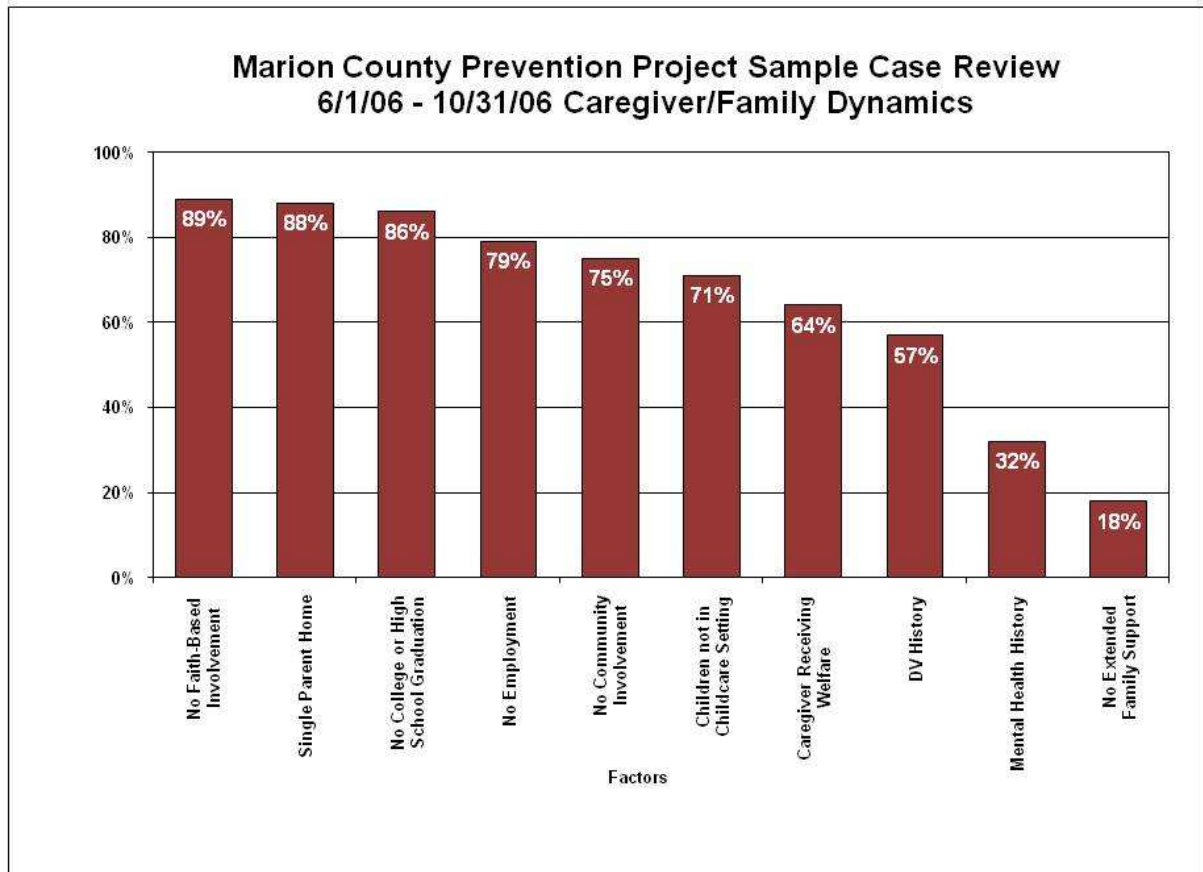

A Prevention Workgroup began examining children removed from their homes in Marion County from March 2005 through December 2006 because of the concerns about the high rate of maltreatment in a few zip code areas in the county. Children living in foster care (out-of-home per capita rate) in Marion County during September 2005 were almost 15 per 1,000. The Workgroup further analyzed a subset of children that were removed between the date ranges of July 1, 2006 through October 31, 2006. The Workgroup discovered that almost sixty percent of the children removed from their home had a primary maltreatment issue related to substance abuse by their caregiver.

The Workgroup continued to stratify the data by zip code of removal origin using the 59 children with substance abuse as the primary removal reason. Seventy-eight percent of the children removed were from seven of the 38 zip codes in Marion County. The Workgroup also compared the top seven zip codes with substance abuse as the primary removal reason to other zip codes with high removal rates. The seven zip codes with substance abuse as the primary removal reason mirrored the other high density zip codes for all removals.

The Workgroup now had a good idea about where and why some children entered the foster care system, but wanted a comprehensive picture of the family dynamics to help determine the needs for preventive services. The Workgroup collected information about, parent education levels, employment status, household income, marital status, community involvement, faith-based activities, child care, age, welfare assistance, and extended family support. The 95 children reviewed represented 28 family units. Case management agencies reviewed files and interviewed parents to collect the information.

Using the collected data from the case management agencies, the Workgroup completed a single case bore analysis and discovered five elements that the families shared at a rate of 75 percent or greater. The Table below outlines all of the results.

TABLE 8 – DYNAMICS FOUND IN FAMILIES

The Workgroup developed an action plan based on the results of the single case bore analysis with an emphasis on the federally mandated outcomes of safety, permanency, and well-being. As different action items related to the single case bore analysis were assigned to the three outcome areas, the team decided a simplified approach with the 80/20 rule would produce results for all three areas.

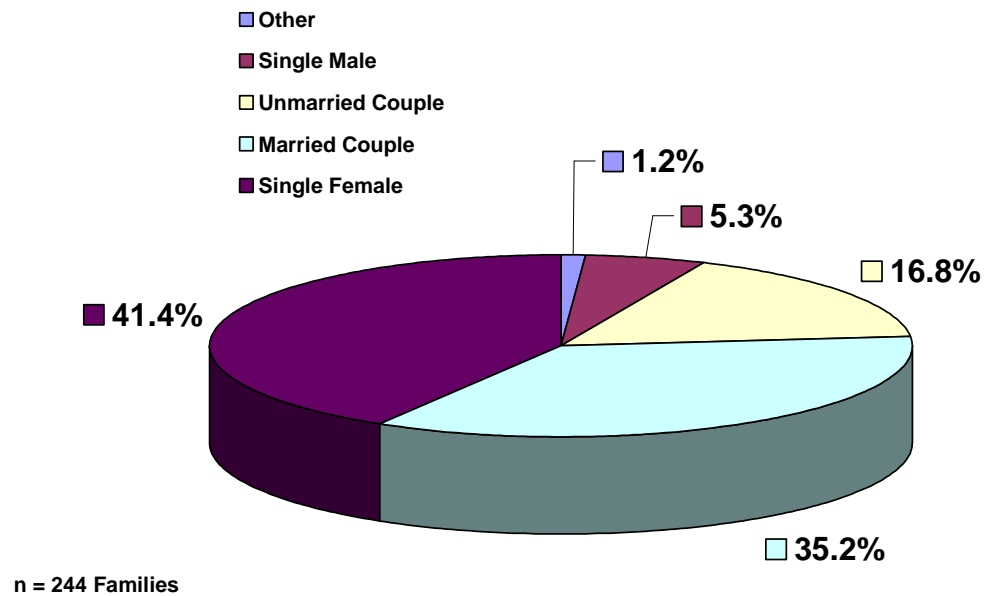

The plan transitioned into a single solution – identify existing programs and develop new resources to strengthen families at a community level. Community leaders and stakeholders were consulted and committed to a grass roots and neighborhood-based approach to address child abuse prevention while strengthening families. We believe strongly that children raised in healthy neighborhoods will be more likely to develop the protective factors as adults. We believe the neighborhood projects promote the development of social connections and therefore strengthen families. Because of initial success and buy in from the West Ocala community that piloted the first project, other communities with high concentration of maltreatment were invited to initiate a project.

Data Related to other Prevention Strategies:

Healthy Families Program: In all five counties, children five and other are more likely to be victims with serious findings. Families currently referred to Circuit 5 diversion services funded by Kids Central are most likely to be single female (41.4 percent), have one child (55.5 percent) and making less than $20,000 (81 percent).

Public Awareness and Education: This is a universal strategy designed to get information to parents before there is a risk to a child, allow the parents to be self sufficient in directing themselves to services they need and educating the public on their role in ensuring all children are safe. The data that lead to the establishment of neighborhood focused strategies supports this priority as does numerous research findings on social capital, protective factors and social connections.

Support for Young Parents and Relative Caregivers: In addition to the above information, over 14000 children in Circuit 5 are being raised by relatives outside of the child welfare system.

Preventable Deaths: In Circuit 5 in 2008 there were 30 child deaths. Thirty– seven percent (37%) of these were accidents resulting from co-sleeping. Twenty percent (20%) were drowning related deaths.

II. CONTINUA OF PRIMARY AND SECONDARY PREVENTION PROGRAMS

A continuum of programs necessary for a comprehensive approach to prevention of all types of child abuse, abandonment, and neglect (including brief descriptions of such programs and services) §39.001(8)(b)6.f

It is the intent of this planning effort to prevent child abuse, abandonment, and neglect before it ever occurs. Thus, for the purpose of this prevention plan, the continuum of programs (necessary for a comprehensive approach to prevention of all types of child abuse, abandonment, and neglect) focuses on the first two of the three levels of prevention and prevention-focused strategies:

Primary using Universal Strategies	Secondary using Selected Strategies	Tertiary using Indicated Strategies
Primary prevention is geared to the general public to prevent child maltreatment from ever occurring. Universal strategies are accessible to anyone with the goal of preventing child maltreatment from ever occurring in the first place.	Secondary prevention is geared to communities and families who are vulnerable and at risk of child maltreatment (e.g., have multiple risk factors – parent age, poverty, substance abuse, domestic violence, maternal depression). Targeted strategies assist these vulnerable groups with the goal of preventing child maltreatment from ever occurring in the first place.	Tertiary prevention consists of activities targeted to families that have confirmed or unconfirmed child abuse and neglect reports. These families have already demonstrated the need for intervention, either with or without court supervision. These are families that qualify for services under child welfare programs. These are families where there is an open case.

II.A. CONTINUUM OF PRIMARY/UNIVERSAL PREVENTION PROGRAMS AND SERVICES Accessible by the general public prior to the occurrence of child abuse and neglect Community Development – Community capacity building, community partnerships, etc.

Community Support for Families – Family resource centers, community events and fairs, etc.

Family Supportive Programs/Services – Voluntary home visiting; developmental screening; affordable, accessible quality childcare; before and after school programs; recreational activities; parent support groups; parent education classes; marriage and relationship counseling and support services; etc.

Information and Referral and Helplines – Access to information about community and social services available for families including early health and development services, etc.

Public Awareness and Education Campaigns – Highlighting risk/protective factors, child development, positive parenting, child safety, domestic violence and substance abuse prevention, bullying prevention, etc.

Workforce – Family-friendly workplace policies, livable wage policies, etc.

II.B. CONTINUUM OF SECONDARY/SELECTED PREVENTION PROGRAMS AND SERVICES Targeted to families with multiple risk factors prior to the occurrence of child Abuse and Neglect

Adult Education – High School Diploma, GED, job training, ESL classes, mentoring for high risk youth, etc.

Community Development – Community building, community partnerships, etc.

Community Support for Families – Food banks, clothing banks, housing assistance, transportation, emergency assistance, food stamps, quality childcare, etc.

Concrete Services – Referrals for (or provision of) clothing, food, utility payments, housing assistance, transportation, emergency assistance, respite care, etc.

Family Supportive Programs/Services – Voluntary home visiting (e.g., for families that meet Healthy Families Florida and Healthy Start criteria), parent education classes, teen parenting services, parent self-help support groups, domestic violence supports, substance abuse and mental health services, respite care (including families with disabilities), counseling for adults and children, developmental assessments, etc.

Workforce – Family-friendly workplace policies and livable wage policies, etc.

II.C. FLORIDA'S ECOLOGICAL FRAMEWORK

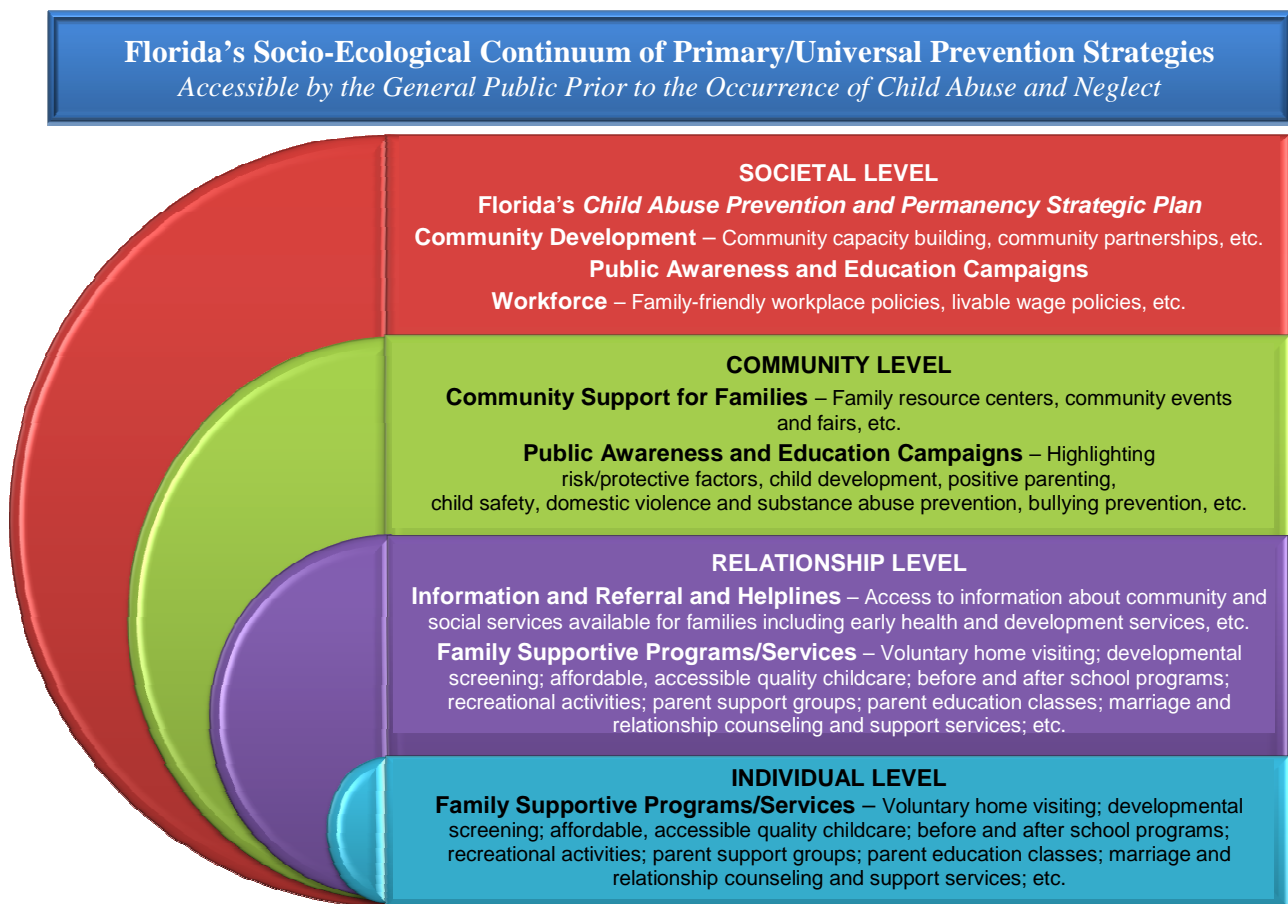

Florida's ecological framework serves to organize the potential influence and impact of prevention strategies and is based on the following assumptions:

- Children and families exist as part of an ecological system. This means that prevention strategies must target interventions at multiple levels: the individual, the relationship, the community, and society.
- Primary responsibility for the development and well-being of children lies within the family, and all segments of society must support families as they raise their children.
- Assuring the well-being of all families is the cornerstone of a healthy society and requires universal access to support programs and services.

It comprises four levels of influence:

1. Individual level: At this level are parent and child characteristics – emotional and psychological characteristics, temperament, behavior, problem-solving skills, health conditions, and beliefs – that can affect the rearing of children. Interventions at this level are often designed to affect an individual's social skills, cognitive skills, behavior and immediate circumstances.
2. Relationship level: Interpersonal relationships with peers, intimate partners, and family members shape an individual's behavior and range of experiences. This level contains factors such as family size, cohesion, communication, support, conflict, and stability that directly affect the child and influence the way in which adults care for children and each other. Interventions at this level are often designed to improve a person's ability to engage in positive and constructive relationships, especially within the immediate family.

3. Community level: Families operate within neighborhoods and communities. Factors that characterize this level include availability of supports (governmental and community), stability, violence, poverty, disorganization, and isolation; all affect the ability of families and communities to nurture their children. Interventions at the community level are typically designed to impact the climate, systems and policies in a given (usually geographic) setting.
4. Societal level: The larger culture in which families operate and children are raised plays a significant role in how families care for their young. Religious or cultural belief systems, values such as self-reliance and family privacy, and the cultural acceptance of media violence and corporal punishment of children affect the way in which parents raise their children and the ways in which communities support families. Interventions at the societal level typically involve collaborations of multiple partners to change laws and policies as well as to determine and influence societal norms and harmful cultural belief systems.

III. PROGRAMS CURRENTLY SERVING CHILDREN WHO HAVE BEEN MALTREATED

Description of programs currently serving abused, abandoned, and neglected children and their families (including information on the impact, cost-effectiveness, and sources of funding)

§39.001(8)(b)6.b

These data have been collected and reported as a part of the Florida Child Abuse Prevention and Permanency Plan: January 2009 – June 2010 and have been updated within Florida's Child and Family Services Plan as submitted in June 2009. Additionally, Kids Central, Inc., Circuit 5's lead agency, has taken leadership to enhance these services by being one of the first lead agency in Florida to become accredited by the Council on Accreditation (COA), to implement a Quality Improvement Center project to enhance case management services and to participate in partnership with DCF and community agencies in the American Humane Association's and Casey Family Program's Breakthrough Series Collaborative. Kids Central also received a Health and Human Services (HHS) grant to further enhance the Family Finding program that fosters life long connections for children in the foster care system. The circuit was also a finalist for the Quality Improvement Center for Differential Response. These are examples of the innovative philosophy behind the Circuit 5 system of care.

IV. CHILD MALTREATMENT PREVENTION PROGRAMS

Description of programs for the prevention of child abuse, abandonment, and neglect (including information on the impact, cost-effectiveness, and sources of funding) §39.001(8)(b)6.b

IV.A. PRIMARY/UNIVERSAL PREVENTION STRATEGIES – PROGRAMS ACCESSIBLE BY THE GENERAL PUBLIC PRIOR TO THE OCCURRENCE OF CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT

Kids Central, the DCF and multiple community partners in Circuit 5 have histories of working together to invest in primary prevention initiatives. They believe strongly in the investment model of prevention that has been defined by Stagner and Lansing in the Fall 2009 edition of The Future of Children. This model looks to investing in future outcomes by changing current behaviors and conditions. This model focuses on strengthening the capacity of communities and families to maximize their potential versus minimizing risk.

Each of the counties has an Alliance or Shared Services Network that is active in initiatives that promote child safety, and/or prevention of negative outcomes for children. Marion County Children's Alliance actually has full time staff devoted to these efforts and over 125 community partners that consistently attend monthly meetings and participating in working subcommittees. The Lake County and Citrus County Shared Services networks also have coordinators that provide the necessary leadership to organize and advocate for children services. Hernando County also has an Alliance and recently within a partnership with local Chamber of Commerce developed a Hernando Youth Initiative that is taking the lead on developing services to develop the protective factors for you. Sumter county started an Alliance in late 2009. Each Alliance/Network is involved in planning and coordinated events for April Child Abuse Prevention Month. Kids Central has continued to invest in community education programs such as the Front Porch Project®, Capacity Building, Community Dialogs, and the newly initiated Wakanheza Project, all facilitated by Devereux Kids.

Kids Central's Board of Directors has also invested its time and energy in multi media campaign in 2008 entitled End the Tears. This campaign was designed to engage local businesses and individuals to understand the issues related to child abuse and neglect and to give them simple techniques that everyone can use to prevent harm in the first place. The initial campaign in August 2008 included advertizing, a microsite tailored to each county, public /media relations, direct marketing and prevention summits in each county. The summits, one in each county, were attended by 293 participants and featured presentations by Lonnie Parezek of the Ounce of Prevention Fund of Florida, who presented the Prevent Child Abuse America's research on messaging around the prevention of child maltreatment.

The Kids Central Board continued the End the Tears campaign in April 2010 with a focus on strengthening the developmental assets of children. Gary Eagleton, a highly respected national speaker and expert on developmental assets, spoke at the summits in all five counties the first week of April. More than 200 persons listened to his presentations. Among those attending were professionals from law enforcement, the school system, mental health agencies, service agencies, as well as parents, grandparents, and foster care parents. Kids Central will send approximately 20 persons to train with the Search Institute on Development Assets to allow this important work can continue. Additionally, the developmental asset survey will be distributed to youth serving organization with the results to be used as a planning tool for community development around supporting our youth and their healthy development.

The Department also has a new partnership with Lake Sumter Community College TV that can be and will be used to build awareness of child abuse and neglect and to promote prevention activities, especially during April.

This information is limited by the number of providers who responded to either the local survey developed by the Planning Team or the online survey developed through myflorida.com. Therefore, it presents an understated picture of resources available to families and the general population. For example, Marion County is our largest and most populated county and has many more resources than the 16 outlined in the summary. The cells marked N/A indicate that at this time providers did not supply information to include in this plan. Additionally, even though definitions were given in both surveys to differentiate primary and secondary prevention, providers still have a confusion of what is primary prevention and what should more appropriately be classified as secondary. For those services that the conveners and Team were familiar with, adjustments were made to more accurately reflect the type of prevention services for those who responded to the local survey. For those that responded to the statewide survey, this is still a concern that should be taken into a consideration.

Very few of the respondents in either survey were able to articulate cost effectiveness. The preventive health care providers were the most like to demonstrate this, if available. Most of the providers indicated they do measure process and performance outcomes. Kids Central has worked with the Florida Coalition for Children to identify data elements to measure diversion outcomes by tracking families that have been served through diversion programs and whether or not there are future calls and findings. This same committee is having similar discussions about prevention programs that serve families prior to the call to the Hotline. Additionally, Kids Central is exploring Results Based Accountability and will include Balanced Score Card measures for its primary prevention provider, one of which deals with cost effectiveness.

IV.B. SECONDARY/SELECTED PREVENTION STRATEGIES – PROGRAMS TARGETED TO FAMILIES WITH MULTIPLE RISK FACTORS FOR CHILD ABUSE PRIOR TO THE OCCURRENCE OF CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT

Note: Secondary prevention is geared to communities and families who are vulnerable and at risk of child maltreatment (e.g., have multiple risk factors – parent age, poverty, substance abuse, domestic violence, maternal depression). Targeted strategies assist these vulnerable groups with the goal of preventing child maltreatment from ever occurring in the first place.

Secondary prevention resources are more readily available within Circuit 5. Kids Central invests in and provides many of these services. These targeted prevention services have allowed Kids Central to reduce the number of children in the formal child welfare system from 4308 in July 2005 to 1759 in June 2009, a 40.8 percent reduction. During this time, Kids Central has invested in contractual diversion services, neighborhood focused strategies, and in home parenting services. It has also developed a comprehensive support program for relative caregivers, which includes support groups, education, support services, case management and linkages to services for any family that provides care to relative children. Secondary prevention services include prevention and diversion services prior to a child entering the foster care system. The following diagram

Kids Central also has a strong Kinship Care support program that is available to anyone who is raising a relative's child. It is estimate the 14,000 children in circuit 5 are being raised by relatives and these children are all outside the child welfare system. In addition to support services being made available to these families, each year Kids Central sponsors a conference for providers to learn more about this area but also open to general public and caregivers for their learning and growth.

During the last few years, Kids Central has provided mini-grants to a variety of providers to provide support services for families. Last summer, it invested hundreds of thousands of dollars to support summer programs for youth throughout the circuit. It continued to invest in 20 after school programs and in vacation programs by providing funding to faith based and community organizations in towns and communities across the circuit. These are considered secondary prevention because they are intended to serve children in specific neighborhoods and communities as opposed to all the children in Circuit 5. In July 2009, Kids Central was awarded a contract to provide Rapid Re-Housing services for families at risks of homelessness. Kids

Central also continues to support safe sleeping seminars that are educational programs for new mothers. Parents who participate and are in need, are provided safe cribs and bedding.

The Department of Children and Families has a pro-active approach to improving public knowledge of and access to public assistance programs (TANF, Food Stamps, Medicaid). Additionally, it received a United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) grant to develop a rapid response team and voluntary workforce to improve participation rates in the Food Stamp program. DCF has also partnered with Kids Central's Kinship Care program and the United Way of Lake and Sumter County to form the Human Care Network that fed over 50,000 families in Lake and Sumter counties last year. Finally, Kids Central and DC have partnered to improve the financial situation of families by creating a mobile response van that have ACCESS computers and provide the USDA grant volunteers to go to various locations to assist families in enrolling in benefits. All of these efforts have been initiated to address poverty and economic stress of families within the circuit.

The neighborhood prevention projects seek to change the dynamics found in families that have children removed from their care in order to prevent children from entering the child welfare system. Their purpose is also to engage the whole neighborhood and a broad group of stakeholders in seeking solutions before children are harmed or their safety compromised. The project model is based on research related to the impact of community on the healthy development of children and the promising outcomes from research on strength based consumer driven strategies. The model is designed to be driven by the priorities of the neighborhood residents because the research that supports the model demonstrates that when people have a voice in services to be provided to them and are viewed as partners in creating and implementing solutions, they are more likely to fully participate. It is designed to look holistically at the many challenges families face. The project is based on principles of universal accessibility – meaning families are not identified as “bad parents” or “deficient” in some way in order to get help or support. The project also focuses on utilizing the natural support systems that are available in every neighborhood (faith based communities, businesses, civic associations, and residents themselves) to reduce isolation among vulnerable families.

Each of the Neighborhood Projects hires one Community Facilitator that engages the neighborhood residents and brokers relations between them and with organizational resources from outside the community. Each of the neighborhood projects has a goal of increasing access to services for the neighborhood families. This is done by the Facilitators engaging businesses, local governments, and civic and religious organizations in their neighborhood efforts. This strategy has resulted in an additional $230,000 (Year to date, 2009/10) in donations of cash, goods and services directly benefiting the neighborhood families in the seven project areas. Likewise, new services like health screening, neighborhood family events and employment and training opportunities have been brought to the neighborhoods to benefit all families.

Again, this information is limited by the self-reporting nature of the surveys. Very few of the respondents in either survey were able to articulate cost effectiveness. The preventive health care providers were the most like to demonstrate this, if available. Most of the providers indicated they do measure process and performance outcomes. Kids Central has worked with the Florida Coalition for Children to identify data elements to measure diversion outcomes by tracking families that have been served through diversion programs and whether or not there are future calls and findings. This same committee is having similar discussions about prevention programs that serve families prior to the call to the Hotline. Additionally, Kids Central is exploring Results Based Accountability and will include Balanced Score Card measures for its primary prevention provider, one of which deals with cost effectiveness.

Finally, we also believe there are many untapped and unidentified services in each county, that are able and willing to provide support services to families. This is why we believe the neighborhood focused strategies proposed in this plan as so important. These strategies are based on asset based community development model that requires program staff to identify and build upon the natural supports in each community and in each family. With these projects the Facilitators become very aware of issues impacting their neighborhoods and counties. The services they generate are responsive to the needs of communities and their families and they work with the local families to increase access to support services, jobs, education and other concrete services. Each of the projects, its services and priorities will be different because the needs of the neighborhoods are different and their strengths are different.

VI. PLAN OF ACTION FOR THE PREVENTION OF CHILD ABUSE, ABANDONMENT, AND NEGLECT

A plan for steps to be taken in meeting identified needs, including the coordination and integration of services to avoid unnecessary duplication and cost, and for alternative funding strategies for meeting needs through the reallocation of existing resources, utilization of volunteers, contracting with local universities for services, and local government or private agency funding §39.001(8)(b)6.h

Vision

Florida's highest priority is that children are raised in healthy, safe, stable, and nurturing families.

Mission

To serve as a blueprint that will be implemented to provide for the care, safety, and protection of all of Florida's children in an environment that fosters healthy social, emotional, intellectual, and physical development.

Outcome

All families and communities ensure that children are safe and nurtured and live in stable environments that promote well-being.

Circuit Goal 1

Children and teenagers are free from abuse, abandonment, and neglect and have safe, loving and permanent homes as measured by a reduction in the circuit-level child abuse rate from the fiscal year 2008-09 of 14.5 to a rate of 10 per 1,000 children by 30 June 2015. This is approximately a 30 percent reduction that the circuit wants to achieve in all county rates as well. .

Citrus County Goal 1.1

Children and teenagers are free from abuse, abandonment, and neglect and have safe, loving and permanent homes as measured by a reduction in the circuit-level child abuse rate from the fiscal year 2008-09 of 16.67 to a rate of 11.67 per 1,000 children by 30 June 2015 (30 percent reduction)

Hernando County Goal 1.2

Children and teenagers are free from abuse, abandonment, and neglect and have safe, loving and permanent homes as measured by a reduction in the circuit-level child abuse rate from the fiscal year 2008-09 of 32.87 to a rate of 23 per 1,000 children by 30 June 2015. (30 percent reduction)

Lake County Goal 1.3

Children and teenagers are free from abuse, abandonment, and neglect and have safe, loving and permanent homes as measured by a reduction in the circuit-level child abuse rate from the fiscal year 2008-09 of 12.40 to a rate of 8.68 per 1,000 children by 30 June 2015. (30 percent reduction)

Marion County Goal 1.4

Children and teenagers are free from abuse, abandonment, and neglect and have safe, loving and permanent homes as measured by a reduction in the circuit-level child abuse rate from the fiscal year 2008-09 of 15.37 to a rate of 10.76 per 1,000 children by 30 June 2015. (30 percent reduction)

Sumter County Goal 1.5

Children and teenagers are free from abuse, abandonment, and neglect and have safe, loving and permanent homes as measured by a reduction in the circuit-level child abuse rate from the fiscal year 2008-09 of 15.58 to a rate of 10.91 per 1,000 children by 30 June 2015. (30 percent reduction)

Strategy 1 - Neighborhood Project

By 30 June 2015, Circuit 5 will have a network of neighborhood focused prevention efforts with the purpose of strengthening families, promoting the development of protective factors and addressing the comprehensive needs of families, especially those that research has demonstrated increase the risk of maltreatment.

Priority Level: 1	Priority Need: Geographical areas within circuit that have higher incidence of risk factors related to child abuse and neglect, including unemployment, poverty, homelessness, substance abuse and social isolation. (all five counties) These same areas have higher number of investigations.

VII. MONITORING AND EVALUATION

Plans for monitoring progress and for determining the results of the prevention efforts.

VII.A. MONITORING PLAN IMPLEMENTATION

Monitoring of the plan implementation will be the primary responsibility of the Circuit 5 Department of Children and Families. At completion of the final plan, the Department will develop an implementation and reporting plan that will assign the lead partners for each objective to identify and document baseline information, design methods to track the measures, and assess results. Additionally, in keeping with our desire to keep the local Alliances and Shared Services Networks involved throughout the process, on-going communication on the status of the objectives, action steps and benchmarks/measures will be provided them at monthly/quarterly meetings. The local planning team will be called together to address issues related to implementation and to develop additional action steps, if necessary.

During our planning process, the Prevention Committee, was one of four subcommittees (Steering Committee, Prevention committee, Adoption Promotion Committee and Adoption Support) established, each charged with completion of five year plan strategies, objectives, and action steps. These committees are structured to remain intact and complete implementation of action steps, progress analysis and reporting throughout the five year plan period. This charge includes ongoing identification and recruitment of community members whose involvement will further the efforts of the team in plan implementation. Additionally, the primary prevention provider, Devereux Kids, has established Balance Score Card measures that support measures in the plan. These measures will be track each fiscal year and relevant results reported to the subcommittees.

The four established committees will be meeting periodically but in regular intervals throughout the year to hold themselves accountable to the targets established and the follow through expected. They will summaries and provide the full membership with actions taken and outcomes observed. Critical to this exercise will be the recording of “lessons learned” and recommendations offered. This process shall promote the development of our overall plan and the ability for it to evolve into a more prescriptive and attainable tool.

Our circuit’s Steering Committee will meet as necessary to ensure support for the subcommittees as well as allow for the subcommittees to resource them for further guidance and direction should obstacles arise.

VII. B ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORTING

Describe how the circuit planning team will prepare for reporting the annual progress of the efforts to implement the plan. See number two above for one idea about this effort (hint). See Attachment 9 of this outline for the timeframe for this reporting.

As explained above, the monitoring and reporting will be the responsibility of the Department of Children and Families, in conjunction with the lead entities for each of the objectives. Reporting will be based on the timelines outlined in each objective and action step. Progress, challenges and adaptations of the original objectives will be reported, according to timeframes established by the Governor’s Office. More importantly, the progress, challenges and adaptations will be communicated to local planning team members, community partners and the Children's Alliances and Shared Services Networks.

Progress will also be measured by our ability and the ability of partners engaged in each strategy to improve protective factors and create an effective continuum of primary universal and secondary prevention strategies. Finally, the DCF will track and report on our progress in achieving a 30 percent reduction in our circuit wide and county level rates of child maltreatment.

We have additionally instituted an expectation at all subcommittee levels to take the time at meetings and initiatives to collect any and all pertinent information for our quarterly reports. This "roll up" of information will help keep the full membership informed while promoting more comprehensive planning practices. We anticipate future annual summaries of progress more qualitative and quantitative while reflecting the efforts and contributions of our larger stakeholder communities.

VIII. BARRIERS

A description of barriers to the accomplishment of a comprehensive approach to the prevention of child abuse, abandonment, and neglect. §39.001(8)(b)6.i

Barriers related to developing a strong prevention approach, especially primary prevention, are enhanced by the lack of a public consensus on parental vs. children's rights and on the true social costs of child maltreatment. The general public also lacks the political will to accept civic responsibility for the well being for all children. Despite our best efforts to shift the prevention approach from a deficit and risks model to a protective factor/strength based model, the general public still believes child abuse is caused by bad parents; will not happen to anyone they know; and there is little they can do about it. They do not understand the complex parental, familial and community factors that can lead to harm to children and/or are judgmental of what they perceive as poor parenting. Parents who struggle with raising their children are afraid to reach out because we have created an adversarial system that is often not about supporting and partnering to help parents, but is more about ensuring compliance.

People in leadership roles too often believe that primary prevention is “fluff”: something that makes people feel good, but not effective in protecting children. Until we are effective in demonstrating that prevention strategies will positively impact the future rates of child maltreatment, this perception will continue.

Other challenges include:

- Engaging resident and community leaders in creating and implementing local solutions to issues or to build community protective factors.
- Difficulty in measuring outcomes related to prevention and the subsequent hesitation of funders to invest in prevention. The lack of cost effectiveness data from providers demonstrates another related challenge.
- Lack of true understanding of and appreciation of primary prevention. Many practitioners and decision makers continue to believe prevention is the prevention of children coming into the system or prevention of re-abuse. Prevention is about ensuring all children are raised in stable, safe and supporting homes and communities.
- The survey of providers produced a thick book of resources. Those resources are not valuable unless they are accessible for the families who need them. The size of the resource book and the fact that primarily state funded organizations responded to the survey may produce an unintended consequence. In our opinion, the real work is done at the community level and effectively engaging those resources as appropriate is the challenge for providers and families alike.

IX. RECOMMENDATIONS

Recommendations for changes that can be accomplished only at the state program level or by legislative action. §39.001(8)(b)6.j

Circuit 5 recommends:

- Advocate for the continuation of the Title IV-E waiver. In Florida, many prevention services can be funded because of the Title IV-E waiver.
- As budgets need to be reduced, do not consider penalizing lead agencies that are doing a good job of reducing placements, reducing caseloads, and preventing children from being harmed by cutting their budgets. Instead encourage them to keep creating effective primary and secondary prevention strategies to keep more children from harm.
- Local lead agencies must be encouraged and allowed to pursue private funding sources to fund prevention initiatives.
- Engaging community resources in prevention strategies must be an intentional strategy. The Community Facilitation strategy initiated in the 1995 -2000 Prevention Plan should be encouraged. Right now the conveners of the local planning teams have the task of planning, monitoring and reporting as added responsibility. Community Facilitator are very effective at the neighborhood level in bringing the formal resources closer to the families needing them and engaging community resources in supporting families.

PART 3 – PLAN FOR THE PROMOTION OF ADOPTION

I. STATUS OF ADOPTION PROMOTION

Status of adoption (including information concerning the number of children within the child welfare system available for adoption who need child-specific adoption promotion efforts) §39.001(8)(b)6.c

Adoption promotion services in Circuit 5 were provided through Children’s Home Society until December 2009. During the transition of services to Youth and Family Alternatives both agencies worked together from October through November to ensure a smooth transition. Both agencies worked together for Celebrate Adoption events in all five counties during November, a promotion objective of the current plan. During this period, Kids Central also began implementation of Adoption Chronicles™ for child specific recruitment. The federal measures and other state measures for Circuit 5 are provided below.

(Source: Dept. of Children and Families)

The medium length for stay for children who are adopted is shortest for recruited parents (9.17), then relatives (13.85) and finally foster (15.28). In many of the above measure, the counties in Circuit 5 are better than statewide averages. However, our median length of stay for children adoption is greater in four of the five counties. In the 2009-2010 plan, we indicated that as a circuit we had a 34 percent average for adoptions within 24 months, while the state had a 39.6 percent (2007 data). Figures from the table above show an improvement to 38 percent of children were adopted within 24 months. The state average improved somewhat to 40.99 percent.

The children/youth with the goal of APPLA (Another Planned Permanent Living Arrangement) are some of the children who will participate in the Family Finding process so that they can find life long connections to family members. These are the children for whom it has been decided, in a planned manner, that they will be best served in a living arrangement that permanent but not one of reunification, guardianship or adoption. Kids Central's Family Finding process will be used to ensure these youth remain connected to extended family as they age out of this living arrangement.

The average length of time for children legally free for adoption and finalization is shortest for recruited parents (9.17 months), then for relative caregivers (13.85) and foster parents (17.28)

The length of time children legally freed for adoption wait for identified families typically increases as a child gets older. In Circuit 5, of the 42 children available with no identified family at the end of June 2009, 36 of them were 9-17 years old. Of these children, there were 15 sibling groups. Among these children, data shows that white children averaged 31 months and Black children 24 months. This children should be the focus of both targeted and child specific recruitment efforts such as the Adoption Chronicles™.

II. CONTINUUM OF ADOPTION PROMOTION PROGRAMS

A continuum of programs necessary for a comprehensive approach to promotion of adoption (including brief descriptions of such programs and services) §39.001(8)(b)6.f

Adoption awareness efforts – Web-based, television, newspaper, magazine and radio public service announcements that provide a backdrop for general community awareness about the children in foster care who need adoptive families. The Explore Adoption campaign is pre-packaged and ready to be customized and used.

Targeted recruitment efforts – Focusing on specific groups of children and teens needing homes and identifying and targeting those communities most likely to adopt these children. Descriptions of common special needs of available children will lead to target populations that should be recruited; community and faith-based initiatives; incentive programs for foster and adoptive families to recruit others from their communities; advertisements, posters or flyers at places where foster and adoptive parents typically shop or visit; Web sites such as Explore Adoption; etc. The Explore Adoption campaign is pre-packaged and ready to be used.

Child-specific recruitment efforts – Locating and matching an identified waiting child with an approved adoptive family; media or materials describing and recruiting parents for an individual child; statewide and national adoption Web sites (e.g., Explore Adoption, Adoption Information Center, etc.); statewide and local heart galleries; radio, newspaper or television features; “passports” or brochures featuring the child’s strengths and needs; etc.

Orientation for prospective adoptive parents – Meetings for staff to explain the adoption process and requirements for becoming an adoptive family; follow-up literature and guides; etc.

Assistance (navigating the system) for prospective adoptive parents – Consistent contact with prospective families, helpdesk for prospective families, guidebooks, brochures or paperwork that explains the process and steps that must be completed to become an approved adoptive parent, etc. Explore Adoption Web site has a FAQ page that would assist with this.

Pre-adoption training for prospective parents – Adoptive parent training (e.g., MAPP) and family self-assessment to determine if adoption is a feasible plan for prospective adoptive family, adoption specific training after completion of the MAPP class, etc.

Pre-adoption information for “waiting” parents (i.e., family approved for adoption) – Referrals to local adoptive parent support groups; consultation, brochures or paperwork explaining the process and steps that must be completed once a child is identified as a possible match for approved adoptive families; adoption-specific training after receiving approval to adopt; etc.

Placement case management for “pre-adoptive” parents – Match staffing, placement supervision, child history disclosure, anticipated child-specific services and training needs, etc.

III. PROGRAMS CURRENTLY PROMOTING ADOPTION

Description of programs currently promoting adoption (including information on the impact, cost-effectiveness, and sources of funding) §39.001(8)(b)6.d

As mentioned, Youth and Family Alternatives assumed the Adoption services contract from Children's Home Society in late 2009. It is currently working with Kids Central to design the services for adoption promotion and to continue and enhance services for adoptive parents. Youth and Family Alternatives continues to meet with stakeholders and is currently developing a Balanced Scorecard that will include adoption promotion. As part of the Balanced Scorecard Adoption staff will attend 80% of dependency permanency staffing meetings to become involved immediately when a child's situation changes to adoption. An additional measures include to promote adoption include requiring adoption staff to participate in 60% of transition visits along with dependency staff. This last measure demonstrates how Kids Central has developed a system of care that requires all partners to be fully involved in all aspects of the system.

Initiatives currently in place or planned for adoption promotion in Circuit 5 includes:

- Ongoing Model Approached to Partnership in Parenting (MAPP) classes at all three offices in Marion, Lake, and Hernando Counties.
- Community networking and speaking engagements have been initiated, attended with additional engagements being scheduled.
- Utilizing the Adoption Chronicles™ for public awareness and child specific recruitment, currently there are 15 youth profiled on website (<http://www.adoptionchronicles.com>), Ages 9-17 years old, average age 14, six girls, nine boys, four Black and 11 Caucasian. No sibling groups. This is a joint initiative with Kids Central.
- Utilize the Family Finding model to engage potential relative adoptions.
- Utilizing the resources of the local Alliances and Faith Base Networks to showcase adoption and child specific recruitment.
- A Circuit 5 website is being designed by the Information Technology (IT) department so available children will be featured as part of the website.
- The Heart Gallery of Pasco County (adjacent county to Hernando and Sumter counties) has expressed also interested in featuring our children in their Heart Gallery.
- Use of Family Finding process to identify extended families for adoption and/or life long connections.

A plan for steps to be taken in meeting identified needs, including the coordination and integration of services to avoid unnecessary duplication and cost, and for alternative funding strategies for meeting needs through the reallocation of existing resources, utilization of volunteers, contracting with local universities for services, and local government or private agency funding §39.001(8)(b)6.h

Vision

Florida's highest priority is that children are raised in healthy, safe, stable, and nurturing families.

Mission

VI. MONITORING AND EVALUATION

Plans for monitoring progress and for determining the results of the adoption promotion efforts.

VII. A. MONITORING PLAN IMPLEMENTATION

Monitoring of the plan implementation will be the primary responsibility of the Circuit 5 Department of Children and Families. At completion of the final plan, the Department will develop an implementation and reporting plan that will assign the lead partners for each objective to identify and document baseline information, design methods to track the measures, and assess results. Additionally, in keeping with our desire to keep the local Alliances and Shared Services Networks involved throughout the process, on-going communication on the status of the objectives, action steps and benchmarks/measures will be provided them at monthly/quarterly meetings. The local planning team will be called together to address issues related to implementation and to develop additional action steps, if necessary.

During our planning process, the Adoption Promotion Committee was one of four subcommittees established, each charged with completion of five year plan strategies, objectives, and action steps. These committees are structured to remain intact and complete implementation of action steps, progress analysis and reporting throughout the five year plan period. This charge includes ongoing identification and recruitment of community members whose involvement will further the efforts of the team in plan implementation. Additionally, the adoption promotion services provider, Youth and Family Alternatives, has established Balance Score Card measures that support measures in the plan. These measures will be track each fiscal year and relevant results reported to the subcommittees.

The four established committees will be meeting periodically but in regular intervals throughout the year to hold themselves accountable to the targets established and the follow through expected. They will summaries and provide the full membership with actions taken and outcomes observed. Critical to this exercise will be the recording of “lessons learned” and recommendations offered. This process shall promote the development of our overall plan and the ability for it to evolve into a more prescriptive and attainable tool.

Our circuit’s Steering Committee will meet as necessary to ensure support for the subcommittees as well as allow for the subcommittees to resource them for further guidance and direction should obstacles arise.

VII. B ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORTING

As explained above, the monitoring and reporting will be the responsibility of the Department of Children and Families, in conjunction with the lead entities for each of the objectives. Reporting will be based on the timelines outlined in each objective and action step. Progress, challenges and adaptations of the original objectives will be reported, according to timeframes established by the Governor’s Office. More importantly, the progress, challenges and adaptations will be communicated to local planning team members, community partners and the Children’s Alliances and Shared Services Networks.

Progress will also be measured by our ability and the ability of partners engaged in each strategy to improve protective factors and create an effective continuum of primary universal and secondary prevention strategies. Finally, the DCF will track and report on our progress in achieving a 30 percent reduction in our circuit wide and county level rates of child maltreatment.

We have additionally instituted an expectation at all subcommittee levels to take the time at meetings and initiatives to collect any and all pertinent information for our quarterly reports. This “roll up” of information will help keep the full membership informed while promoting more comprehensive planning practices. We anticipate future annual summaries of progress more qualitative and quantitative while reflecting the efforts and contributions of our larger stakeholder communities.

VII. BARRIERS

A description of barriers to the accomplishment of a comprehensive approach to the promotion of adoption. §39.001(8)(b)6.i

Youth and Family Alternatives' staff and the local planning team identified the following barriers and challenges to the implementation of the plan and the comprehensive approach to promoting adoption within Circuit 5.

- Number of MAPP certified instructors throughout Circuit 5
- The economy at this time can potentially impact action steps, specifically donation of children's photos by local photographers, families willing to add children to their homes maybe anxious because of economy, and families' ability to taking time off from work to attend the required MAPP classes is impacted .
- Funding for programs and activities that promote public awareness and community involvement is limited.
- Faith-based organizations are often touted as the cure for the lack of resources. While they can provide a valuable response to a variety of needs of families and children, the response may be limited because of their limited capacity and interests. Many faith-based organizations in rural areas, such as Circuit 5, have part time pastors and no staff. Providers must find a way to build relationships with these organizations and make it easier for them to respond to our identified needs/issues.

Additional barriers identified in 2009-2010 that remain are:

- Myth on part of the general public that "special needs" children, as termed by the Department of Children and Families, means that the children have multiple developmental/medical needs, when in fact, it could mean that children are older, part of sibling groups etc.
- On-going need for additional financial resources.
- The geography of the circuit hampers our ability to make all services and promotional opportunities geographically accessible to all families.

- RECOMMENDATIONS

Recommendations for changes that can be accomplished only at the state program level or by legislative action. §39.001(8)(b)6.j

Youth and Family Alternatives Adoption promotion and recruitment staff offered the following suggestions.

- Change of state statute to allow the Florida Department of Law enforcement (FDLE) background screenings to be valid for six months for adoptions versus three months. This would allow families and staff to complete the adoptive home studies without either having to be re-fingerprinted or making staff update the FDLE via the mail.

Part 4 – PLAN FOR THE SUPPORT OF ADOPTIVE FAMILIES

I. STATUS OF SUPPORT OF ADOPTIVE FAMILIES

Status of support of adoptive families (to be based upon such areas as the quantity and quality of adoptive parent support groups; quantity and accessibility of adoption competent mental health professionals; educational opportunities available for adoptive parents; and quantity of post adoption services counselors who provide information and referral, temporary case management for emotional support, and educational advocacy).

With the implementation of the current plan, Circuit 5 has increased its support services to adoptive families. Prior to this plan, many or most of the services that were available for adoptive families were services that were also available for any family within the foster care system. Recognizing that adoptive families need unique services from pre-adoption throughout until the child becomes an adult, we have improved, enhanced and developed new adoption support services. The adoption dissolutions data for the Circuit shows that in 2008 Marion County had five, Hernando County had two and Sumter County had one, all for mental health or behavioral issues that parents could not handle.

Both Kids Central and YFA have specific services for adoptive families. Kids Central and YFA have initiated on-going support groups for adoptive and pre-adoptive parents. These support groups are currently offered in all five counties; however, Citrus County has no participants, to date. These groups are facilitated and also used to provide adoptive parents with on-going training related to issues they are facing. Additionally, adoptive support staffs at both Kids Central and YFA provide one-to-one support and information to adoptive parents. Adoptive parents participating in the support groups are surveyed to determine the benefits of this type of support, as well as determine their on-going interests for topics to be covered during these sessions.

Kids Central also provides valuable support services to the relative caregivers who are preparing to adopt and those who have already adopted through its comprehensive Kinship Care Program. As the data revealed, relative adoptions have the highest percent in the circuit, so this is a very valuable support service within our continuum. The Kinship Care program provides emergency assistance, case management, legal services and on-going support groups. In the current fiscal year the Kids Central Kinship Care program has served 2500 children in kinship families, both prior to and after adoption.

Children's Home Society had developed "Adoption Matters" newsletter. YFA is in the process of designing and publishing a quarterly newsletter that will be used to notify all adoptive parents of upcoming training opportunities, articles related to adoption issues, upcoming events for their family and fun facts about adoption. The Annual Celebrate Adoptions events in each of the counties in November were not only used to promote adoption but also to recognize and celebrate the wonderful families that do open their hearts and their homes to our children.

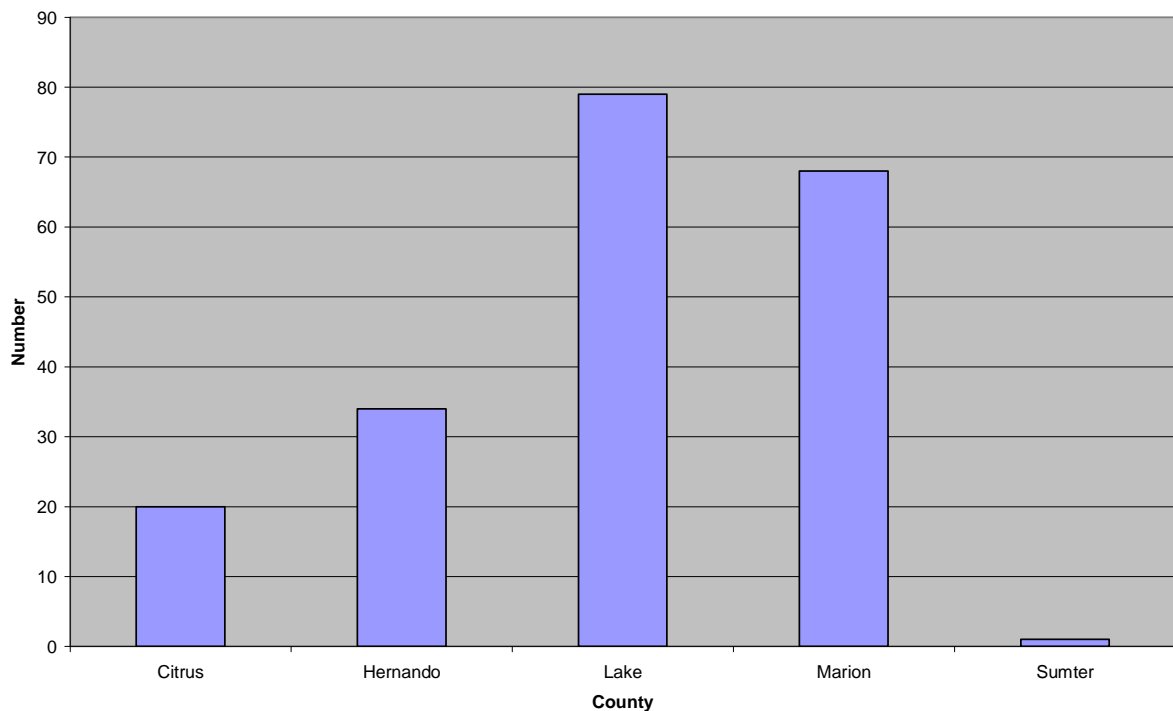

Youth and Family Alternatives does have a designated staff member who provides adoption support services. Loriann Floramo, YFA's Clinical Coordinator provides adoptive families information and referral, case management, support and educational advocacy services in all five counties.

A deficiency in Circuit 5 is the lack of mental health professionals with specific training in adoption. As reported in the current plan, the Care Network operated by Camelot is available to provide mental health assistance to adoptive families as well as families in diversion services and case management.

Kids Central and Devereux Kids, which provides neutral facilitators for Family Team Conferencing, have discussed using the Family Team conferencing model more for adoptive families that begin to show signs of struggles with their adoptive child. The purpose of this would be to have the family, its support system and community resource providers develop a family driven plan to address potential challenges.

Comments made on the draft plan suggested that this plan should outline these data points for all the counties. Circuit 5 approaches adoption support as part of its system of care and to indicate this information on a county level would be redundant. Below in diagram 20, the number of children adopted in 2008/09 is outlined. These children and their families are part of the focus of adoption support programs, but families with children adopted prior to this are as well.

Diagram 20 - Adopted Children in 2008/09 By County

II. CONTINUUM OF ADOPTION SUPPORT PROGRAMS

Description of a comprehensive approach for providing post-adoption services (including information on sufficient and accessible parent and teen support groups; case management, information, and referral services; and educational advocacy) §39.001(8)(b)6.e

Adoptive parent and teen support groups – Small group opportunities for parents and teens that are accessible, configured and meeting as often as appropriate for the languages, cultures and needs of the participants in your communities; provision of support from umbrella organizations and qualified facilitators where appropriate (e.g., teen support groups); etc.

Education and training opportunities for adoptive parents – Education and training related to adoption issues, with an emphasis on strategies for handling loss, grief, relationship building, and “acting out” behaviors; skill-building to equip adoptive parents with the skills needed to meet the specific and developing needs of children (e.g., fetal alcohol, substance abuse, autism, etc.); providing adoption resource centers, lending libraries, newsletters, annual adoption conferences, and ongoing training and workshops for parents; etc.

Adoption competent education and mental health assistance services for adoptive families – Those providing education and therapeutic services have the basic knowledge and skills to effectively work with adoptive families and to empower adoptive parents and families to provide the environment necessary for ameliorating the effects of trauma (e.g., build relationships, improve relationships, develop nurturing and supporting attachment, etc.); campaigns to recruit professionals to seek adoption competencies; etc.

Case management services for adoptive parents and children – An intake process for families that return for needed services; designated case manager to respond to adopted children and families post-legal finalization; system to notify families of continued training, adoption workshops, and support group meetings, and resource guide that includes adoption-support information and service providers, etc.

III. PROGRAMS CURRENTLY SUPPORTING ADOPTIVE FAMILIES

Description of programs currently supporting adoptive families (including information on the impact, cost-effectiveness, and sources of funding) §39.001(8)(b)6.d

Based on information provided by our adoption support service providers in both the local survey and the myflorida.com survey provides a glimpse of our continuum of services. A complete description of these resources, cost effectiveness and sources of funding is provided in Attachment 4.

Table 17 – Continuum of Service Capacity for Support of Adopted Parents

Type of Service	Total Provider	Citrus	Hernando	Lake	Marion	Sumter
Adoption Support Groups	3	X	X	X	X	X
Education and Training Opportunities	3	X	X	X	X	X
Adoption Competent Education and Mental Health Assistance	N/A
Case Management for Adoptive Parents	2	X	X	X	X	X

As reported earlier, support services for adoptive families are provided primary by Kids Central and Youth and Family Alternatives. The only service area that we do not have available for adoptive families is the adoption competent education and mental health assistance. The Planning Team discussed this both for the current plan and for the 2010-2015 plan. A strategy we included in the current plan was to develop a type of “speaker’s bureau” to work with educators so they understood the unique needs of adopted children. This strategy did not get implemented for a variety of reason, including the inability to access educators. The State Advisory Council’s advocacy in developing certification and in-serving training for mental health counselors across the state would be beneficial.

IV. PLAN PRIORITIES

A description, documentation, and priority ranking of local needs related to the support of adoptive families based upon the comprehensive approach (see Part 4-II) and services (see Part 4-III). §39.001(8)(b)6.g

VII. A. MONITORING PLAN IMPLEMENTATION

Monitoring of the plan implementation will be the primary responsibility of the Circuit 5 Department of Children and Families. At completion of the final plan, the Department will develop an implementation and reporting plan that will assign the lead partners for each objective to identify and document baseline information, design methods to track the measures, and assess results. Additionally, in keeping with our desire to keep the local Alliances and Shared Services Networks involved throughout the process, on-going communication on the status of the objectives, action steps and benchmarks/measures will be provided them at monthly/quarterly meetings. The local planning team will be called together to address issues related to implementation and to develop additional action steps, if necessary.

During our planning process, the Adoption Support Committee was one of four subcommittees established, each charged with completion of five year plan strategies, objectives, and action steps. These committees are structured to remain intact and complete implementation of action steps, progress analysis and reporting throughout the five year plan period. This charge includes ongoing identification and recruitment of community members whose involvement will further the efforts of the team in plan implementation. Additionally, the Adoption support services provider, Youth and Family Alternatives, has established Balance Score Card measures that support measures in the plan. These measures will be track each fiscal year and relevant results reported to the subcommittees.

The four established committees will be meeting periodically but in regular intervals throughout the year to hold themselves accountable to the targets established and the follow through expected. They will summaries and provide the full membership with actions taken and outcomes observed. Critical to this exercise will be the recording of “lessons learned” and recommendations offered. This process shall promote the development of our overall plan and the ability for it to evolve into a more prescriptive and attainable tool.

Our circuit’s Steering Committee will meet as necessary to ensure support for the subcommittees as well as allow for the subcommittees to resource them for further guidance and direction should obstacles arise.

VII. B ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORTING

Describe how the circuit planning team will prepare for reporting the annual progress of the efforts to implement the plan. See number two above for one idea about this effort (hint). See Attachment 9 of this outline for the timeframe for this reporting.

As explained above, the monitoring and reporting will be the responsibility of the Department of Children and Families, in conjunction with the lead entities for each of the objectives. Reporting will be based on the timelines outlined in each objective and action step. Progress, challenges and adaptations of the original objectives will be reported, according to timeframes established by the Governor’s Office. More importantly, the progress, challenges and adaptations will be communicated to local planning team members, community partners and the Children’s Alliances and Shared Services Networks.

Progress will also be measured by our ability and the ability of partners engaged in each strategy to improve protective factors and create an effective continuum of primary universal and secondary prevention strategies. Finally, the DCF will track and report on our progress in achieving a 30 percent reduction in our circuit wide and county level rates of child maltreatment.

We have additionally instituted an expectation at all subcommittee levels to take the time at meetings and initiatives to collect any and all pertinent information for our quarterly reports. This “roll up” of information will help keep the full membership informed while promoting more comprehensive planning practices. We anticipate future annual summaries of progress more qualitative and quantitative while reflecting the efforts and contributions of our larger stakeholder communities.

VII. BARRIERS

A description of barriers to the accomplishment of a comprehensive approach to the support of adoptive families.
§39.001(8)(b)6.i

In a rural area such as Circuit 5 it is difficult to balance access to services such as support groups. Providers desire to organize support groups in location and at times that are convenient for the intended audiences. Yet, the effective use of staff and resources require groups to also be in places with the potential to attract a minimum number of participants. Adoptive parents also need to have consistency in when these groups are offered so they can attend when their schedule allows.

Additionally, barriers identified in 2009- 2010 plan still remain.

- On-going need for additional financial resources and subsequent services.
- Geography and transportation to available services.
- Lack of behavioral health services that some children need.
- Medicaid does not pay for the required therapy and it is very expensive for families to afford.
- The economy may cause more stress on adoptive families requiring them to seek more support services. This situation has only increased since development of the current plan.

VIII. RECOMMENDATIONS

Recommendations for changes that can be accomplished only at the state program level or by legislative action. §39.001(8)(b)6.j

As noted, the adoption competent educational and mental health services in the service area that we currently do not have resources. We believe that state should assist in this service area by:

- Provide opportunities/training/incentives for therapist to become skilled in dealing with severe issues many of the children face.
- Address Medicaid issues related to behavioral therapy.

Additionally, as noted in current plan, parents adopting children from the foster care system must be able to access subsidies for needs that may arise throughout the life of the child.

Presentations to Shared Services Networks (Citrus and Lake) and County Alliances (Sumter, Marion and Hernando)

Overview of the Local Plan for Prevention and Permanency

- Prevention of Child Maltreatment – Primary and Secondary Prevention
- Adoption Promotion
- Support of Adoptive Parents

Prevention Services – focus on individual levels, neighborhood and community levels and societal levels. Focus of strategies is to improve parental protective factors of:

- Parental Emotional Resilience
- Social Connections
- Knowledge of Parenting and Child Development
- Concrete Support in Times of Need
- Nurturing and Attachment

Adoption Promotion – focuses targeted and child specific recruitment strategies to recruit adoptive families and improve timeliness of permanency once parental rights are terminated.

Support of Adoptive Parents – focuses on the services that are in place or need to be in place so families who adopt children from foster care are fully supported throughout the life of the child.

The intent of the Local Planning Team is to continue and to build upon the strategies that have been in place since the development of the 2009-2010 plan. These strategies include:

Prevention:

- Development of neighborhood focused strategies in neighborhoods with higher than average rates of maltreatment, multiple risk factors associated with child abuse and neglect, and community/neighborhood residents and organizations that are committed to improving outcomes for children and families.
 - Programs are currently in place in West Ocala, Crystal River, Leesburg, Eustis, Spring Hill, and Lake Panasoffkee. An additional site is planned for Marion Oaks. These projects are comprehensive prevention strategies with the purpose of increasing access to resources and community mobilization and development.
- The identification and engagement in faith based organizations to provide support and resources for families. This was based on data taken from a review of case files of children in placement, which determined that 89 percent of the families had no connection to faith based organizations in the community. This strategy is implemented through the neighborhood projects, as well as in areas that do not have projects.
- Reduction of avoidable child deaths through activities currently promoted by Safe Children Coalitions, Healthy Start Coalitions and Healthy Families. This includes safe sleeping, drowning prevention etc.

- Continuation of public awareness efforts such as the April Child Abuse and Neglect Campaign, and community education programs such as the Front Porch Project®, Capacity Building and Wakanheza Project funded by Kids Central and provided by Devereux Kids.
- Final strategy is to continue to support the Healthy Families programs throughout the Circuit.

Adoption Promotion (current strategies subject to change/enhancement by new provider YFA)

- Improve promotion activity throughout the Circuit.
- Improve communication with prospective families so they are supported through the process and that matches can be made in a timely fashion.
- Engage faith based organizations in the recruitment of adoptive families.

Support of Adoptive Families (current strategies subject to change/enhancement by new provider YFA)

- Improve on-going communication with adoptive parents through newsletters etc.
- Provide information on available resources at time of adoption and throughout the child's life.
- Provide ongoing peer support groups for adoptive teens and parents.
- Educate professionals that deal with children on the on-going needs of adopted children.

Program/Service: Licensed Clinical Mental Health Services

Description: All facets of individual, families, couples, groups - therapeutic guidance with a speciality in traumas, addictions, child abuse and corollary family-systems needs. Forensic reporting and court case assistance; Child Custody Evaluations and Child Abuse In

Availability: On-Call, as needed - by appointment.

Impact Information: Greater need for Child Custody Evaluations by court judges who deal specifically with indigent parents - yet, state funding was stopped for the very small stipend paid to contracted, licensed and approved child custody evaluators over two (2) years ago, so now those indigent children and their cases have been falling between very large cracks in the State of Florida system.

Cost-Effectiveness: Children's lives have literally been saved when intense forensic investigations were able to be done on the family, the parents, caregivers and other input from school personnel and extended family was able to be gleaned. Highly technical reports were written with substantiating attachment documentation to the court judges and agency personnel with solid recommendations for case disposition - in looking out for the children as priority #1 and their best interests.

Funding Source(s): State Funding was cut for the court systems over two (2) years ago as stated previously so now only wealthy clients can afford to pay for their Custody Evaluations if a judge orders them. The poor, indigent and often most-needy and at-risk little children have NO protection under this area because the judges no longer even have the small stipend allotment available to pay a qualified, licensed, contracted clinical professional to perform such a Child Custody Evaluation. Privately they cost between $12,000.00 to $20,000.00 The court used to at least be able to provi

Target Audience(s): The Child Custody Evaluations were the indigent families that had been in very long, protracted legal battles over children. The judges made the determination on who needed to be referred. High risk abuse and neglect of children as well as Domestic Viole

Cost-Effectiveness: When families call the toll free Poison Control Hotline instead of accessing unnecessary emergency care they save approximately $1,600, the average cost of an ER visit for an injury or poisoning in Florida, according to a 2006 ACHA report. As mentioned earlier, the vast majority of exposures reported to poison centers can be safely and effectively managed over the phone. For families who utilize the educational information provided by the Poison Center to prevent poisonings at home, the potential savings for a hospital admission related to a poisoning averages $13,000, according to a 2007 report from the Florida Office of Injury Prevention. For patients who do require hospitalization for a poison exposure, there is recent data that indicates that even these patients who engaged the poison center in their care had shorter hospitalizations than those who did not call. All in all, the free potentially lifesaving services of the poison control system save the public money by helping

Program/Service: Regional Poison Control Centers

Description: Calls to the Poison Control hotline are answered by nurses, pharmacists, and physicians who have computerized access to the latest, in-depth poison assessment and management techniques. The poison specialists on staff are uniquely trained to assess, triage

Availability: 24 hours/ 7 days a week

Impact Information: In 2009, the Florida Poison Information Center Network responded to over 197,000 calls for assistance. Approximately 83% of calls involving a poison exposure were handled over the phone, without the need to refer callers to further medical care.

Cost-Effectiveness: When families call the toll free Poison Control Hotline instead of accessing unnecessary emergency care they save approximately $1,600, the average cost of an ER visit for an injury or poisoning in Florida, according to a 2006 ACHA report. As mentioned earlier, the vast majority of exposures reported to poison centers can be safely and effectively managed over the phone. For families who utilize the educational information provided by the Poison Center to prevent poisonings at home, the potential savings for a hospital admission related to a poisoning averages $13,000, according to a 2007 report from the Florida Office of Injury Prevention. For patients who do require hospitalization for a poison exposure, there is recent data that indicates that even these patients who engaged the poison center in their care had shorter hospitalizations than those who did not call. Secondary Prevention - Adult Education

Organization: Forensic, Clinical, Business Consulting & Contracting

Program/Service: Licensed Clinical Mental Health Services

Description: All facets of individual, families, couples, groups - therapeutic guidance with a speciality in traumas, addictions, child abuse and corollary family-systems needs. Forensic reporting and court case assistance; Child Custody Evaluations and Child Abuse In

Availability: On-Call, as needed - by appointment.

Impact Information: Greater need for Child Custody Evaluations by court judges who deal specifically with indigent parents - yet, state funding was stopped for the very small stipend paid to contracted, licensed and approved child custody evaluators over two (2) years ago, so now those indigent children and their cases have been falling between very large cracks in the State of Florida system.

Cost-Effectiveness: Children's lives have literally been saved when intense forensic investigations were able to be done on the family, the parents, caregivers and other input from school personnel and extended family was able to be gleaned. Highly technical reports were written with substantiating attachment documentation to the court judges and agency personnel with solid recommendations for case disposition - in looking out for the children as priority #1 and their best interests.

Funding Source(s): State Funding was cut for the court systems over two (2) years ago as stated previously so now only wealthy clients can afford to pay for their Custody Evaluations if a judge orders them. The poor, indigent and often most-needy and at-risk little children have NO protection under this area because the judges no longer even have the small stipend allotment available to pay a qualified, licensed, contracted clinical professional to perform such a Child Custody Evaluation. Impact Information: In 2009, the Florida Poison Information Center Network responded to over 197,000 calls for assistance. Approximately 83% of calls involving a poison exposure were handled over the phone, without the need to refer callers to further medical care.

Cost-Effectiveness: When families call the toll free Poison Control Hotline instead of accessing unnecessary emergency care they save approximately $1,600, the average cost of an ER visit for an injury or poisoning in Florida, according to a 2006 ACHA report. As mentioned earlier, the vast majority of exposures reported to poison centers can be safely and effectively managed over the phone. For families who utilize the educational information provided by the Poison Center to prevent poisonings at home, the potential savings for a hospital admission related to a poisoning averages $13,000, according to a 2007 report from the Florida Office of Injury Prevention. For patients who do require hospitalization for a poison exposure, there is recent data that indicates that even these patients who engaged the poison center in their care had shorter hospitalizations than those who did not call. Description: Calls to the Poison Control hotline are answered by nurses, pharmacists, and physicians who have computerized access to the latest, in-depth poison assessment and management techniques. The poison specialists on staff are uniquely trained to assess, triage

Availability: 24 hours/ 7 days a week

Impact Information: In 2009, the Florida Poison Information Center Network responded to over 197,000 calls for assistance. Approximately 83% of calls involving a poison exposure were handled over the phone, without the need to refer callers to further medical care.

Cost-Effectiveness: When families call the toll free Poison Control Hotline instead of accessing unnecessary emergency care they save approximately $1,600, the average cost of an ER visit for an injury or poisoning in Florida, according to a 2006 ACHA report. As mentioned earlier, the vast majority of exposures reported to poison centers can be safely and effectively managed over the phone. For families who utilize the educational information provided by the Poison Center to prevent poisonings at home, the potential savings for a hospital admission related to a poisoning averages $13,000, according to a 2007 report from the Florida Office of Injury Prevention. For patients who do require hospitalization for a poison exposure, there is recent data that indicates that even these patients who engaged the poison center in their care had shorter hospitalizations than those who did not call. All in all, the free potentially lifesaving services of the poison control system save the public money by helping

Availability: 24 hours/ 7 days a week

Impact Information: In 2009, the Florida Poison Information Center Network responded to over 197,000 calls for assistance. Approximately 83% of calls involving a poison exposure were handled over the phone, without the need to refer callers to further medical care.

Cost-Effectiveness: When families call the toll free Poison Control Hotline instead of accessing unnecessary emergency care they save approximately $1,600, the average cost of an ER visit for an injury or poisoning in Florida, according to a 2006 ACHA report. As mentioned earlier, the vast majority of exposures reported to poison centers can be safely and effectively managed over the phone. For families who utilize the educational information provided by the Poison Center to prevent poisonings at home, the potential savings for a hospital admission related to a poisoning averages $13,000, according to a 2007 report from the Florida Office of Injury Prevention. For patients who do require hospitalization for a poison exposure, there is recent data that indicates that even these patients who engaged the poison center in their care had shorter hospitalizations than those who did not call. All in all, the free potentially lifesaving services of the poison control system save the public money by helping
