

Forough B. Hosseini is the Executive VP of Information Systems for ICI Homes, a company founded by her and her husband, Mori. ICI Homes built on bold vision, has achieved far-reaching recognition including its consistent ranking among the Top 100 Builders in the nation by Builder Magazine. She earned her bachelor's degree in Computer Science from Embry Riddle Aeronautical University and an MBA from University of Central Florida.

Forough's passion for homeless children and education is only second to her passion for her family, especially her three daughters – Nellie, a recent graduate of Harvard Business School, twins - Nina, a recent graduate with Master of Science in Real Estate from University of Florida and Nika, a recent graduate of University of Florida Law School.