Success Stories

William age 17

At 17 years old, William was matched with his forever family and the adoption finalized in May 2014. The family is currently hosting a foreign exchange student, which allows William an even broader experience with this family. William is looking forward to joining the military next year, knowing he will always have a loving, supportive family to come home to.

Davonte' age15

After two years of waiting, Davonte's wish for a forever family came true when he found the mother for whom he had been praying. A year later, Davonte is an avid fisherman, loves playing soccer, and has an active social life- activities he wasn't able to do while in foster care. He is now achieving the educational goal that was once felt to be unobtainable - being on track to graduate high school.

K'mari age 4

K'mari has been blessed to have finally found a "forever family". This child, despite many health care needs, maintains an inner strength and determination which is sensed by those around him. In spite of all of life's challenges, he has survived with much strength. His new family is committed to providing the warmth, love, security and nurturing he requires as he matures into adulthood. He will have someone who will be patient and help him to develop life skills. He now has a home to call his own and a place where he belongs. A mom and a dad who understands and is able to meet his very special needs. He has found a family who is willing to take the risk of loving with no guarantees! There is no doubt that the power of prayer played an integral part in making his dreams come true!

A'mmon age 10 and Zaire age 13

A'mmon and Zaire were placed in several foster and group homes throughout their lives while in foster care. Even when not placed together, they were always able to continue visits and remain close as siblings. When a single mother from Indiana inquired about adopting the children, they were very excited to meet her. After several visits and plane rides, the boys knew she was their mom. Their adoption finalized in April 2011. The boys were originally home schooled, however, they have since transitioned to attending public school. They have been able to remain together and develop their own unique personalities. They love to laugh and love having a forever family to grow up in. They are both full of life and truly love their new home.
